TOWN AND COUNTRY

at Belmond hotels in London and Oxfordshire

A stylish retreat in the heart of Chelsea

Belmond Cadogan Hotel is a tranquil retreat with a distinctly neighbourhood feel. On the crossroads of chic Chelsea and glamorous Knightsbridge, the hotel is perfectly placed to discover luxury shopping and the museums and theatres of the area. Rich in history and heritage, the hotel has many a tale to tell from the misadventures of Oscar Wilde and Lillie Langtree to legacy of Sir Hans Sloane. Celebrating Chelsea past and present – Belmond Cadogan Hotel embeds itself in the heart of its famous neighbourhood with a calendar of public events and cultural programmes to celebrate the arts and its famous literary heritage. A celebration of London life, it's the ultimate retreat in the city.

Oxfordshire heritage meets French flair

Belmond Le Manoir aux Quat'Saisons is tucked away in the picturesque Oxfordshire countryside. Savour world-class indulgence as our chef patron, Raymond Blanc's passion permeates throughout—from the individually-designed suites to the menus in our two Michelin-starred restaurant. Lush gardens are an abundance of colour in summer, while the honey-hued manor is warmed by open fires through winter. It is truly a house for all seasons.

Your three-night stay

After two nights surrounded by a star-studded history and gorgeous accommodation in an unrivalled location on the crossroads of Knightsbridge and Chelsea, your chauffeur will drive you away from the bright city lights to the heart of rural Oxfordshire for an evening of pure gastronomic indulgence. The journey is approximately an hour and a half.

London IN THE CAPITAL

Those searching for the best restaurants in London need look no further. Under the culinary direction of celebrated Chef Patron Adam Handling, Belmond Cadogan Hotel has something for every taste, at every time of day. Dine on exceptionally executed modern British cuisine in the stand alone restaurant, Adam Handling Chelsea, or enjoy an afternoon tea experience in Cadogan Tea Lounge. Enjoy a morning coffee at the Terrace Café, or a sophisticated aperitif in the stylish Bar.

With our enviable position in the heart of one of the city's most fashionable neighbourhoods, we're the perfect starting point for a London shopping spree and when you return from a day discovering the city, enter the hotel via the residential private entrance at 21 Pont Street. Speak to our concierge for tips on our favourite hidden gems.

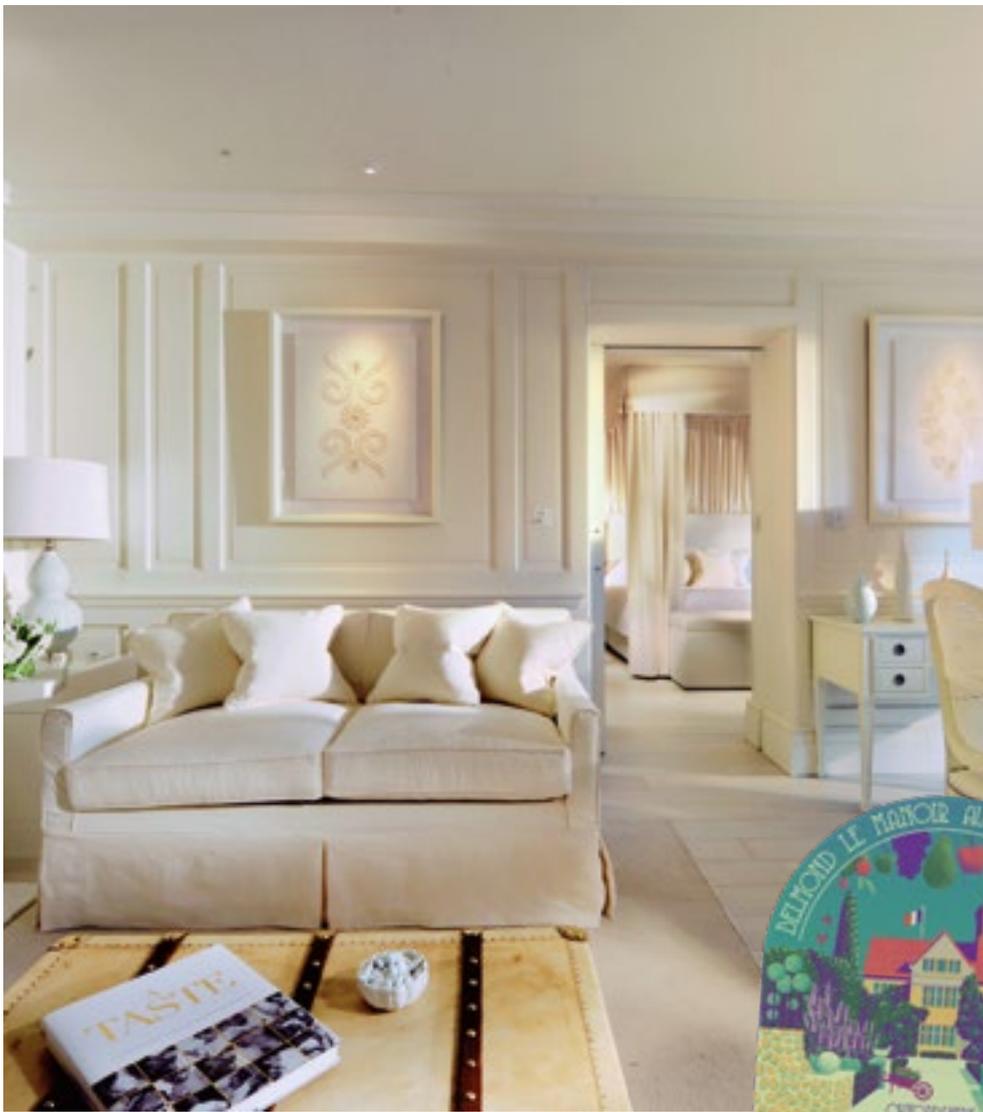

Within walking distance of the hotel are Chelsea Physic Garden, London's oldest botanical gardens dating back to 1673; Cadogan Hall, the first permanent home for a London orchestra; and Royal Court Theatre, with a long history of launching new playwrights; and more.

The hotel connects you with the vibrant fashion, arts and cultural scene of the area, offering a front row seat for London's social season, including Chelsea Flower Show, Masterpiece and London Fashion Week. Discover Chelsea's local pubs, galleries, independent bookshop and retailers, all steps away from the property.

Oxfordshire IN THE COUNTRY

From the serene English water garden to the mushroom valley and heritage orchards, a stroll through our verdant grounds at Belmond Le Manoir is sure to be one of many highlights to your stay. Join us on one of our daily tours or enrol in the seasonal gardening school. You'll be treated to a rare insight into the many unique flowers, trees, fruits and vegetables we grow, and even pick up a few tips and secrets from our expert gardeners. Admire wild birds of prey in our grounds under expert supervision. Falconry displays and interactive sessions offer a rare opportunity to witness these magnificent creatures up close.

Learn to create phenomenal cuisine in a fun, relaxed setting at The Raymond Blanc Cookery School. Our courses are suitable for all experience levels. From half-day introductions, private tuition to residential programmes, dinner party master classes to children's courses, there's something for everyone. Many courses focus on recipes important to Raymond Blanc. Discover the techniques and dishes that inspired him to become the Michelin-starred chef he is today.

The historic city of Oxford is a labyrinth of storied places and people. Highlights include the university buildings such as the Bodleian, one of Europe's oldest libraries and the Ashmolean Museum. Venture beyond the city, Blenheim Palace, the birthplace of Winston Churchill, and Waddesdon Manor make for an awe-inspiring afternoon excursion.
